RIWI to Present its Research Technology at 2026 Corporate Researchers Conference and Announces Grant of Stock Options

Toronto, ON – RIWI Corp. (TSXV: RIWI) (OTC: RWCRF) (the “Company” or “RIWI”), a market research platform, global trend-tracking and prediction technology firm, is pleased to announce that it will participate in the 2026 Corporate Researchers Conference (“CRC”), taking place September 15–17, 2026 at the Marriott Marquis Chicago in Chicago, Illinois.

Hosted by the Insights Association, CRC is the association’s largest event and is expected to attract more than 600 attendees, with corporate researchers representing approximately half of anticipated attendance. The conference is designed specifically for corporate researchers and brings together corporate research and insights professionals to discuss emerging trends and technologies shaping the industry, including AI-driven strategy, technology-enabled insights and consumer understanding.

At CRC, RIWI will demonstrate its latest research and data capabilities, including VerifyHuman, its AI-based anti-fraud solution designed to improve the integrity of online research data, and CoolTool 2.0, its new AI-based survey and research platform. RIWI will also showcase its global reach for research sample and its consumer packaging research capabilities for premium brands.

Additional information regarding the 2026 Corporate Researchers Conference is available through the Insights Association.

Grant of Stock Options

RIWI also announces that it has granted an aggregate of 494,778 stock options (the “Options”) to directors of the Company pursuant to the Company’s stock option plan. The Options are exercisable at a price of $0.155 per common share, expire on August 24, 2031, and are subject to the terms of the Company’s stock option plan and the policies of the TSX Venture Exchange.
